WARREN (Family No. 2)

The first to bear the surname of this family in England was a nobleman, filliam de Warrenne, who rendered distinguished services to William the Conperer in the conquest of England and was created Earl of Surrey, in recognition this valor.

The ancestry of RICHARD WARREN, progenitor of the name and family America, a passenger on the historic Mayflower and a signer of the famous Compact," has been traced through many generations of English records, to is William de Warrenne, who married Gundred, the youngest daughter of the Inqueror, whereby descendants of the Mayflower patriarch may also claim deernt from William the Conqueror.

Richard Warren was not of the Leyden company, but coming from London, ined the Pilgrims at Southampton, and later sailed with them from Plymouth, the Mayflower. After encountering many adventures, the expedition, through areas of weather landed on Clark's Island, at the mouth of Plymouth harbor and December 16, came into the harbor where a landing soon after was made. chard Warren was given a lot in the first division of lands in Plymouth and ater lived near Eel river at a place now called Wellingsley. His wife and five highters joined him at Plymouth, coming on the "Ann" in 1623. He lived only ght years in the new settlement, dying at his home in 1628. The Plymouth storian writes of him: "Grave Richard Warren, a man of integrity, justice, ed uprightness, of piety and serious religion, a useful instrument during the dort time he lived, bearing a deep share of the difficulties and troubles of the "antation." The surname of his wife Elizabeth is believed to have been Jonatt. he survived her husband forty-five years and never remarried but took charge ther family and proved a most competent manager. She died October 2, 1673, aged 90 years. Having divided her property before her death she named her ma-in-law, John Cooke, executor of her will. The children of Richard and Elizaeth (Jonatt) Warren were:

I-Mary, b. before 1612; m. Robert Bartlett.

II—Anna, b.; m. Thomas Little. III—SARAH, b. (See following.)

IV—Elizabeth, b.; m. Richard Church.

V-Abigail, b.; m. Anthony Snow.

VI-Nathaniel, b. at Plymouth, 1624; m. Sarah Walker.

VII-Joseph, b. abt. 1626; died in 1689.
